The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, Auguſt 7. 1705.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Aug 1.

Madrid, July 17.

ALL Poſſible Diligence is us'd in raiſing Recruits, and new Troops, and in making other Preparations for the Autumnal Campaign. The King has made the Marquis de Canales Councellor of State Director General of the Affairs of War, and he is to take Place in the Cabinet-Council, when ſuch Affairs are in Agitation. The Secretaryſhip of the Univerſal Diſpatches is divided into 2 Offices; what relates to the War and the Treaſury is committed to the Care of Don Joſeph Grimaldo Knight of St. James, and the other Affairs of the Monarchy are referr'd to a ſeparate Office. Captain Don Jacinto Vaſquez, is made Colonel of the ſecond Body of Foot of the Regiment of Granada: Don Ignatio Bautiſta de Rivas Councellor in the Council of the Treaſury dy'd ſome Days ago. We have receiv'd Advice by ſeveral Letters from the Frontiers, That Don Juan Thomas Henriquez de Cabrera Amirante of Caſtile, is dead of an Apoplexy at Portalegre, without having had Time to receive any other Sacrament than that of extreme Unction. The laſt Letters from Alcantara give an Account that the Enemy had beſieg'd Marvan with 6000 Men, as judging it would be very difficult for any Succours to be convey'd thither. 'Tis advis'd from Cadix, that on the 10th of this Month ſome part of the Engliſh and Dutch Fleet came in ſight of that Place, and that at 2 a Clock in the Afternoon 68 Veſſels appear'd, of which 47 were Men of War. Some light Ships approach'd the Puntal to take a View of it. The 11th more Ships appear'd, ſo that in all about 150 Sail were counted: The whole Fleet ſteer'd for the Streights, ſo that they were all out of ſight of Cadix the ſame Day.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated Auguſt 7.

Madrid, July 17. The Court had ſent Order to the Marquiſſes de Puyſegur and de Bay to relieve the Caſtle of Marvan, but while they were on their March thither they were inform'd the Garriſon conſiſting of 400 Men had ſurrendred. They flatter themſelves at Court with hopes to have an Army of 30000 Men ready by September, and 'tis given out that if ſuch an Army can be provided the King will make this latter Campaign in Perſon. The Court have ſhewn themſelves to be very uneaſy ſince they had News of the Enemy's Fleet having appear'd on our Coaſt; and tho' 'tis given out the King has receiv'd freſh Aſſurances of the good Affection and Loyalty of the moſt conſiderable Perſons of the principality of Catalonia, yet the Court cannot conceal their Apprehenſion of an Inſurrection in that Province.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Aug. 8.

Madrid, July 23. The King has made Prince Tſerclaes de Tilly a Grandee, for his ſignal Services; and nominated the Son of the Duke de Veraguas to go Envoy to France, to paſs the Compliments of Condolance on the Death of the Duke of Britany. His Majeſty has given the Government of Buen Retiro per interim to the Duke de Seſſa, in the room of the Marquis de Leganez Alcalde of that Royal Houſe. The News of the Death of hte Amirante is confirm'd from ſeveral Places, but we are inform'd by Letters from Ayamonte, that he dy'd at Eſtremoz, not at Portalegre as was related by our firſt Advices. Don Franciſco Ronquillo has receiv'd orders to return to old Caſtile, and is to command the Troops in that Province. The laſt Letters from Cadix give a more particular Account than the former of the Enemy's Fleet. They were ſeen on the 11th from 9 a Clock in the Morning till 2 in the Afternoon, and conſiſted of 68 Ships, of which 47 ſtood in pretty near to the Iſland of Lion, and ſent 2 Shallops to ſound the Coaſt. Don Juan Antonio d' Amezaga who commands at Cadix, immediately advanc'd with 3 Regiments of Horſe, and a Body of Foot, to diſpute the Enemies landing, in caſe they ſhould attempt it: but in the Evening they ſtood off again with an Eaſterly Wind, and ſteer'd for Cape Spartel, where they were oblig'd to ſtay the 12th; the 13th the Wind turn'd to the North-Eaſt, and they took that Opportunity to ſtand into the Streights; but that Wind did not hold long, and we have ſince had no News of them.

From the Paris Letter, dated Aug. 7.

Paris, Aug. 7. We had Advice from Pampelona that the Marquis de Leganez was ill there of a Fever: But we are ſince inform'd that he was brought to Bayone the 18th of laſt Month in perfect Health, and that he declares he is deſirous to be tried for the Crimes laid to his Charge, not doubting to prove his Innocence and the Malice of his Accuſers. Letters from Madrid ſay the King and Queen of Spain have contriv'd under Pretext of making a Journey on account of Devotion to ſome Place, to meet the Princeſs of Urſini.

The Amſterdam Gazette of the 7th of Auguſt, aſſures us the Marquis de Leganez is to be carried from Bayone to the Caſtle call'd Trompette at Bourdeaux.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Auguſt 6.

Rome, July 18. The 11th of this Month an Order of the Pope was affix'd on the Doors of all the Churches of this City, in which he enjoyn'd the Clergy to read certain Prayers the 4 following Days, and the People to aſſiſt with Devotion requiſite at ſuch Prayers, his Holyneſs having caus'd them to be drawn up on purpoſe to implore the Inſpiration and Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt in an Affair of extraordinary Importance which his Holineſs had under conſideration. The Gentleman whom the Count de Lamberg the Emperor's Ambaſſador had ſent to Vienna, to inform his Imperial Majeſty of the Impriſonment of Signior Cavalleti one of his Gentlemen, and alſo of the Admittance of the French into Mezola and other Places on the lower Po, return'd hither the 15th Inſtant: The ſame Day in the Evening, the Count de Lamberg went from hence, but whither is not certainly known; And 'tis reported that before his Departure, his Excellency caus'd a Memorial to be deliver'd to the Pope, containing great Complaints and exhibiting 27 particular Grievances which the Emperor affirms he has ſuffer'd from his Holineſs or his Miniſters, and demanding ſpeedy and reaſonable Satisfaction, The Pope appear'd to be very much alarm'd at it, as did alſo his Miniſters; and it was taken notice of that when he was at his Devotions the next day in the Church of St. Mary Major, he burſt out into Tears. The ſame Day (the 16th) his Holineſs publiſh'd a Bull, confirming and corroborating thoſe made by Innocent X and

and Alexander VII his Predeceſſors, which condemn the Doctrine of Janſenius: He ſays in the Preamble to the Bull, that he had iſſued it in compliance with the earneſt Intreaties of ſeveral Forreign Biſhops, and particularly of thoſe of France that have moſt Zeal for Religion, after he had implor'd the Divine Inſpiration, as well in private as by the publick Prayers we have mention'd. The Miniſters of France and Spain, and thoſe of the Pope that are in their Intereſt, have brought it about that Count Pauluci and all the other Officers of the Pope's Troops who ſuffer'd the French to enter by ſurprize into the Ferrareze and drive out the Imperialiſts about the end of laſt Year, to the great Prejudice of the Emperor, have been formally juſtified and declar'd innocent by a Council of War held at Bologna. Which Judgment having been confirm'd by the Pope, Count Pauluci is reſtor'd to his Command in chief of his Holineſs's Forces.
